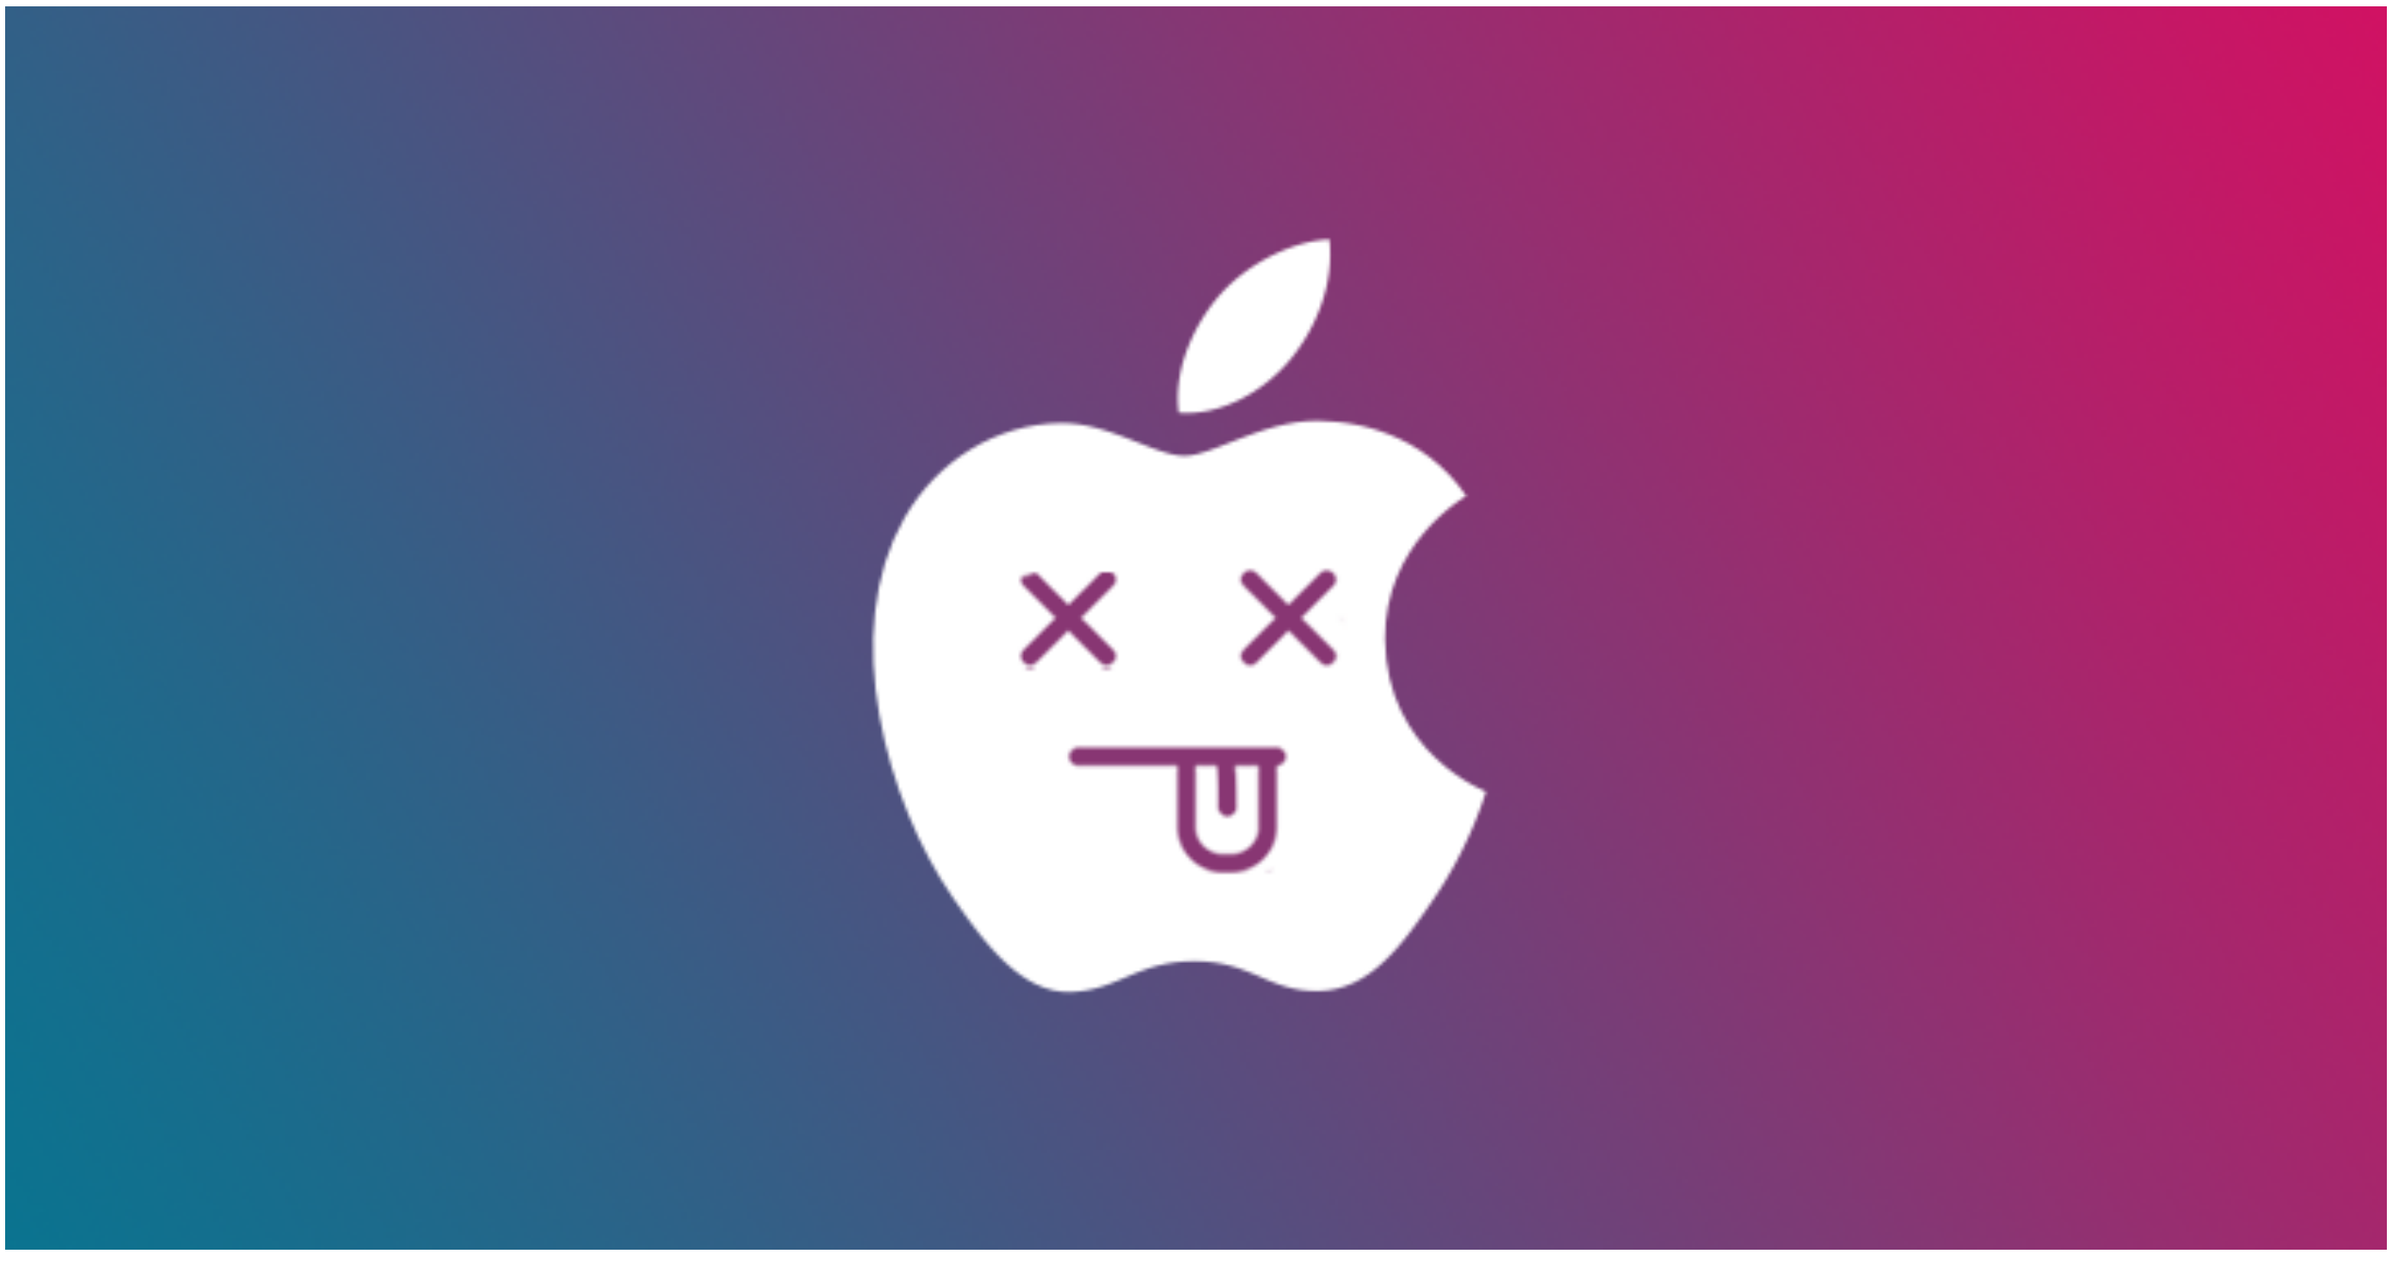
APPLE PREPARING TO SWITCH TO ARM CHIPS

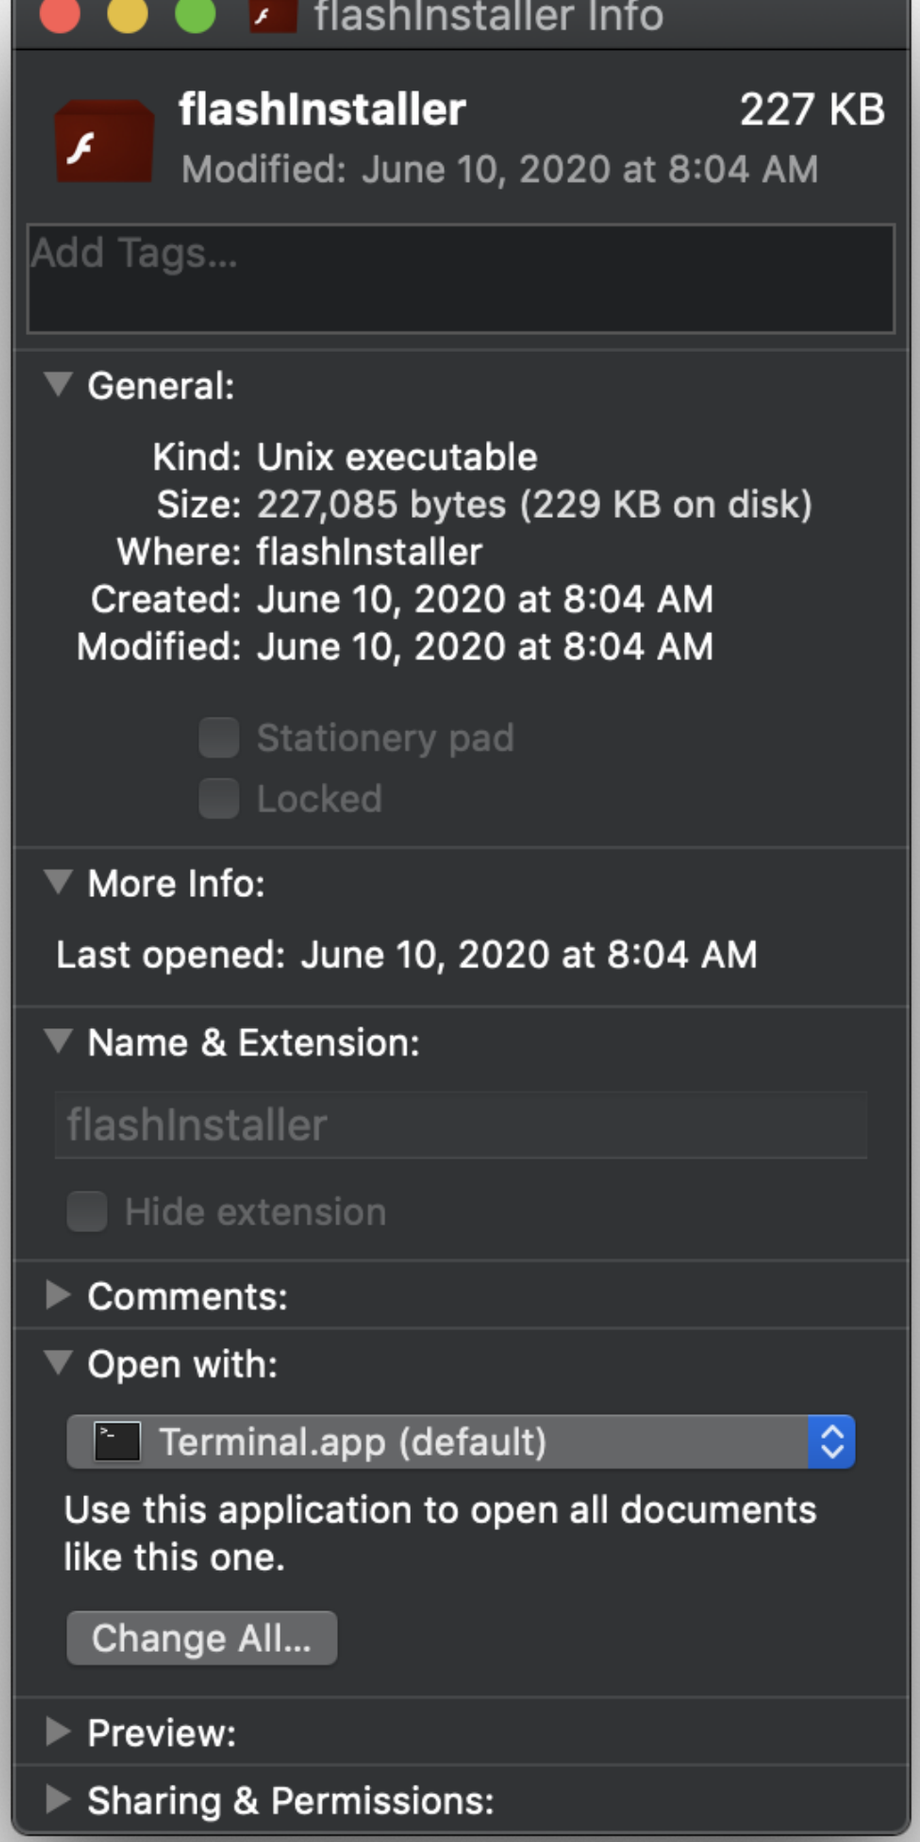
- Apple has use Intel chips for 15 years
- “Intel is well-past its glory days. Today’s Intel’s claim to fame - besides not being able to make modem chips very well - is peddling inefficient, embarrassing, fatally flawed junk. - “ MacDailyNews May 15th, 2019
- ARM Processors will offer Improved Bench marks and battery performance.

MALWARE



MALWARE OSX/SHLAYER AND OSX/BUNDLORE

- Intego Security Software discovered
- Spreading through Google Search Results
- Masquerading as Adobe Flash Player Installer
- Giving Users Instructions that bypass Apple's built-in security measures.



➤ After the deceptive Flash Player installer is downloaded and opened on a victim's Mac, the disk image will mount and display instructions on how to install it. The instructions tell users to first "right-click" on flashInstaller and select Open, and then to click Open in the resulting dialog box.

- It hides software on your Mac
- Downloads a legitimate Adobe-Signed Flash Player
- It can load any other Mac Malware or adware package the programer controlling it decided
- The developers' decision to hide the Mac .app within a password-protected .zip file, and to hide that within a bash shell script, (that runs in the Terminal), is clear evidence that the developers are trying to evade detection by antivirus software.
- So far Intego is the only one claiming they can find it.
